This book is an investigation of the Brazilian health cooperation in Mozambique and is an interesting book that looks at the interests of both actors and different power relations among this initiative.

This book investigates the Brazilian health cooperation in Mozambique looking at the interests of both actors and different power relations within this initiative. It counts with a case study looking at the implementation of SociedadeMocambicana de Medicamentos – a pharmaceutical factory that was implemented in Maputo as a result of the cooperation between the countries.

Readership

This book would be interesting for academics in the field of international relations, global health governance, foreign policy, and health. It is also a good alternative for policymakers who want to understand how foreign policy formulation is translated into projects and the practical challenges that they might encounter in the field.
