Description

A pioneering study on energy sector reform and liberalization in developing countries.

'An important book for the energy community worldwide. Essential reading for everyone involved in global energy issues, particularly those pertaining to developing countries.' —Dr Hisham Khatib, Honorary Vice Chairman, World Energy Council, Past Minister of Energy and Planning (Jordan)

'A timely, lucid and comprehensive review of energy needs in non-OPEC developing countries, with focus on accessible, affordable and reliable energy for development.' —Dr Yaga Venugopal Reddy, Governor of the Reserve Bank of India

This comprehensive text offers a rare and insightful investigation into the energy sector of the developing world. Energy for Development provides comparative case studies of countries going through the reform process, evaluates reform experience, discusses the lessons that can be learned and identifies challenges faced by these countries at the national and global level. Vedavalli offers topical and timely book which seeks to explore the anxieties and insecurities of the global energy sector since 2001.

Readership: An indispensable book for students of development economics looking for a fresh approach to the subject.
